Outside school learning

This half term we will be learning about everyday heroes such as the police force or Ambulance service. You could attend an event such as local fire station open day where your child will find out more information about an everyday hero. There are several games and websites where your child can research and learn about the various emergency services.

As part of our homework grid, we have asked if your child could carry out a science experiment at home which will tie in with our science week later on this term. We have included links to various websites which have some great ideas to get you started.
